UPDATED TRAINING REQUIREMENTS FOR AIRPORT BADGE ISSUANCE

As the security threats have grown and changed over the years, so have the security responsibilities and awareness of every badge holder. Everyone working at the Airport has a security responsibility. The Airport encourages you to take ownership in the "This is My Airport" program, and actively participate in keeping your airport safe and secure. To help badge holders understand their security role and to ensure that each badge holder has knowledge of what he/she can do to maintain a safe and security airport, the Airport has developed new training materials to provide badge holders with the information needed for participation in maintaining a secure and safe airport environment for workers and passengers. One of the newest training materials is a question/answer driven recurrent security training video.

Effective July 1, 2016, the Airport will be requiring initial training for all new badge holders as well as annual recurrent security training upon renewal of an Airport Identification Badge.

Please see the chart below outlining the new training requirements for badge holders.
